Website Issues

On the week of July 8, 2024, we have a big issue on our 000webhost website. It was an obligation to create a new. On the web, we have almost everything that we need for our project HoursManager. At the end of the day, we finally create a new one and we add all the codes again because we have a chance all our codes were in GitHub. We took all of them from GitHub and transferred them to the web.